Description

Tucked away in the peaceful Camp Creek community, this exceptional 30-acre property offers privacy, natural beauty, and the timeless character of a handsome two-story log home. A winding concrete driveway leads from the road to this secluded retreat, thoughtfully positioned out of sight and surrounded by a beautiful balance of open acreage and mature woodland.

With a desirable southern exposure, the home captures impressive Appalachian Mountain views, including a striking vista of Camp Creek Bald. Constructed with square, hand-hewn pine logs and open-timber framing, the residence blends authentic rustic craftsmanship with comfortable, inviting living spaces.

Step inside and you are welcomed by the warmth of natural wood, exposed framing, oak flooring, and Pella windows that beautifully frame the surrounding landscape. The dining area provides an inviting setting for family-style gatherings, with ample room for a large table and a combination of benches and chairs.

The well-appointed kitchen offers generous Corian countertop space and beautiful KraftMaid cabinetry, providing both functionality and abundant storage. From the kitchen, the home flows naturally into the spacious living room, where vaulted ceilings, a striking stacked-stone fireplace, and expansive windows create a spectacular gathering space while bringing the mountain scenery indoors.

The main level also features a comfortable primary suite with his-and-her closets and a full bathroom complete with shower and vanity. A convenient laundry area includes two washers and a dryer.

Beyond the fireplace, an open balcony overlooks the living area and leads to two generously sized upstairs bedrooms, a full bathroom, and abundant storage. The thoughtful layout provides plenty of space for family and guests while maintaining the home's inviting open feel.

The finished basement offers exceptional versatility and could serve as separate living quarters for a family member, guest suite, or extended-stay accommodations. This lower level includes a den/living room with another stacked-stone fireplace, a kitchen, bedroom area, full bathroom, walk-in closet area, and additional storage. The room currently designated as a bedroom is being used as an office, offering flexibility to suit your needs.

Step outdoors and experience the tranquility of the property from the covered back porch and expansive wrap-around porch. These spaces provide wonderful opportunities to relax, entertain, and take in the scenic mountain views.

The property also offers an impressive collection of outbuildings and utility features. A three-car-bay carport includes two additional bays sized for a motorhome or camper, along with a 30-amp camper hookup. A substantial approximately 1,500-square-foot workshop/garage and implement shed provide outstanding space for hobbies, equipment, vehicles, projects, or additional storage. The workshop and garage are equipped with 100-amp electrical service.

Additional features include a 250-gallon propane tank serving the generator and fireplaces, a 5-ton Trane heat pump for heating and cooling, a 60-gallon water heater, and a radon abatement system. A fenced dog area provides a dedicated space for four-legged family members, and there is also an area with potential for a chicken coop.

For those who love the outdoors, the acreage itself is a tremendous part of the property's appeal. Explore the wooded portions of the property, enjoy the changing seasons, and experience the privacy and serenity that comes with owning a substantial tract of land in the Appalachian countryside.

This is more than a home--it is a private mountain retreat with room to live, work, gather, and explore, all surrounded by the natural beauty of Camp Creek.
