Description

Tucked into one of Bristol's most established neighborhoods, this 3-bedroom, 1.5-bath residence offers 2,868 square feet of space that lives larger than the numbers suggest. Foxcroft Road sits within a short stroll of Virginia High School and just minutes from Mumpower Park, placing everyday errands, education, and green space comfortably within reach.

The updated kitchen serves as the home's beating heart, where modern finishes meet functional design. Prepping weeknight dinners or entertaining a crowd feels equally natural here, thanks to smart layout choices and surfaces built for real cooking. From this central space, the home unfolds into rooms that invite both gathering and quiet retreat.

Step through to the screened-in porch, an easygoing spot for savoring morning coffee or lingering over evening conversations while the bugs stay outside where they belong. Beyond it, the outdoor space opens generously, ready for gardening, play, or simply soaking in the seasons.

Downstairs, the basement adds meaningful flexibility. Whether you picture a workshop, recreation room, home gym, or additional storage, this lower level provides room to grow into your vision without stretching the budget.

The surrounding community brings its own quiet appeal--tree-lined streets, friendly neighbors, and a settled rhythm that's increasingly hard to find. With schools and parks nearby, plus downtown Bristol's shops and entertainment a quick drive away, the location balances convenience with a genuine sense of place.

Schedule your showing and imagine the possibilities waiting inside.
