Description

Welcome to 110 Paul Saylor Road, where approximately 1.64 acres, beautiful mountain views and 2,698 square feet of living space come together just outside historic Jonesborough.

This well-maintained two-story home, with only one owner, offers three bedrooms with more than sufficient closet spaces, two full baths and a half bath, laundry room with washer and dryer that convey, and a huge versatile flex room upstairs that can serve as an office, hobby room, playroom, or additional living space. PLUS it has a gas log fireplace. Also upstairs is the pull-down access to the attic that has partially floored storage space.

The main level has many options for use. As you enter the front door from the covered front porch, the room on the right can serve as a formal living room, formal dining room, office space or even a bedroom. On the left side is the entrance to the kitchen where there is room for a table/dining area before entering the spacious galley, fully equipped with tons of cabinets, drawers and a pantry. There is room for a small breakfast table or sitting area at the bay window with a gorgeous pastoral view of the backyard.

This leads to the den that has a gas fireplace, half-bath, stairs to the basement and access to the screened-in porch--the ideal vantage point for taking in the surrounding countryside and mountain views. From there you can step down onto the back deck to enjoy quiet evenings and the fresh, outside air.

Downstairs, an unfinished walk-out basement adds approximately 1,020 square feet of potential. With exterior access as well as garage access, a utility sink and an existing workbench, it offers room for storage, a workshop, recreation or future expansion. 220 electrical panel is ready for use here, and the dehumidifier conveys. There is room for two cars downstairs, in addition to the two-car garage on the main level that has its own storage space and another workbench area!

Outside, beautiful landscaping is already in place. There are two driveways! One leading to the main, two-car garage, and the other goes to the walk-out basement. In the spacious backyard, there is a 12X16 storage building with a loft! Plenty of space for outdoor activity.

Convenient to Kingsport, Johnson City and Jonesborough while not losing the feel of being in the country, this home offers a combination of space, views, versatility and opportunity.
